

Brenlin*Window Shades*—Look much better, last longer!

See that this mark—BRENLIN—is perforated along the edge of all your window shades. (You can't see it unless you look closely.) It is a guarantee that these shades are made without the "filling" that makes other shades streak, wrinkle, fade and show unsightly "pin holes"—that they will always hang straight and smooth, and outlast the ordinary shade several times.

BRENLIN is made in many artistic tones and in Brenlin Duplex—colored one side, white the other. Come in and let us show you samples and quote prices.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES

—Next Monday will be county court day and horse show day at Georgetown.

—Peale Collier, of Millersburg, sold to W. M. Mathers at Carlisle court Monday a handsome two year old gelding at a private price.

—Walter Cook, of Paris, bought at the Master Commissioner's sale of the Clarence Cook land in Carlisle the property at $29.18 per acre.

—The following Bourbon county horsemen had stallions on exhibition at Carlisle Monday: J. P. Redmon, Millersburg; Baron Rhythmic; Reynolds Letton, Emeraldine; J. F. Barbee & Son, Dignity Dare.

—The best horse show held in Carlisle in many years took place Monday afternoon with all Nicholas county horses and many from adjoining counties entered. Horsemen from all over this section of the State were represented at the show.

—CARLISLE COURT.—The Advocate says: "Business in the stock line was exceedingly slow save several horses changing hands. Cattle and other stock were scarce only a small bunch of Jersey heifers brought here by E. P. Wagner, of Millersburg. The petty day was responsible for many farmers remaining at home and looking after farm work of which they are fully three weeks behind."

—Bourbon farmers are taking advantage of the continued good weather and are actively engaged in making their tobacco beds. If the good weather continues throughout this week practically all of the bed will be sown. The unseasonable weather of the early spring retarded farm work generally and little plowing has been done, but as the weather is now opened and the prospects are bright for a continuance of favorable conditions, this class of farm work will be pushed with all haste, looking to the earliest possible date for seeding. A large acreage will be put in tobacco this year in this county.

VIEWS FROM STRIKING REPRODUCTIONS IN LYMAN H. HOWE'S TRAVEL FESTIVAL

To see with their own eyes the places of history, world wonders and world wide activities and to have them made more vivid to their minds is the laudable and praise-worthy motive which prompts 3,000,000 people to travel with Lyman H. Howe each season via his Travel Festival. In recognition of this true appreciative interest Mr. Howe will take his audience at the Paris Grand on April 18 for a pictorial tour to the homes of genius, shrines of art and sites of epoch making history in Rome, Pisa, Florence and other Italian centers. In Florence, that treasure house of Italy where art reached its zenith and which is one of the most attractive cities in the world, the Palazzo Vecchio is visited—a palace which has been standing in massive grandeur over 600 years. A statue of Dante is depicted which is so lifelike that it seems as if the sculptor had endowed it with life itself. Trinity Bridge, spanning the Arno, may be safely described as the only structure of its kind in the world because hundreds of families make their permanent residence on the sides of the bridge. Then the historic edifice known as the Bargello Palace, is inspected, but still more impressive is the world renowned cathedral. The countless specimens of architecture and the glorious dome which crowns the edifice are all shown in detail. The beauty of the series is enhanced by magnificent views of the Bay of Naples. Then the industrial life of Italy is represented by the famous marble quarries of Carrara. Here, where the purest marble of the world has been quarried for centuries, some of the methods of handling are shown in sharp contrast with what would be the American way, although the scenes show that in a mechanical sense, the operations are very modern. After a visit to the Leaning Tower of Pisa and viewing it from a distance looking up from the base, also through the interior columns on top, all of which impart most graphic impressions of how much the strange structure is actually leaning, the tourists are taken to Rome, "The Eternal City." Here the supremely beautiful vistas, palaces, etc., of the ancient and mediaeval city are revealed in all the resplendent colors of sunset and moonlight.

New wonders of the Grand River Canon, Colorado; superb views showing the adventures of three Alpine climbers in ascending majestic peaks to points above the clouds; the flight of a hydroplane through water and air; an elaborate series entitled "Our Navy" showing the greatest fleet of battleships ever assembled under the Stars and Stripes; daring Italian horsemanship, and hunting by aeroplanes are but a few of the many scenes of vital interest showing the very latest achievements of human endeavor.
